Insight beyond the rating.

Date of Release: October 16, 2013

DBRS Places 97 Classes from 57 European SME CLOs Under Review with Developing Implications

Bloomberg: DBRS Places 97 Classes from 57 Euro SME CLOs UR-Dev.
Industry Group: Structured Credit
Sub-Industry: Collateralised Debt Obligations

DBRS Ratings Limited (“DBRS”) has today placed Under Review with Developing Implications 57 transactions and 97 ratings for European collateralized loan obligations (“CLOs”) backed primarily by portfolios of bank loans to small and medium-sized enterprises (“SMEs”).

The rating actions reflect a material update to the methodology DBRS uses to rate and monitor CLOs backed by loans to European SMEs (see Rating CLOs Backed by Loans to European Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises (SMEs), published 15 October 2013).

This methodology supersedes the current Master European Granular Corporate Securitizations (SME CLOs) published 14 June 2011 and the “Small and Medium Enterprise Loans” section of the Master European Structured Finance Surveillance Methodology published 5 December 2012.

Compared to the previous methodologies, this one (a) updates correlation assumptions, including a new “DBRS Diversity Model” that replaces the “DBRS Large Pool Model”, (b) brings recovery assumptions in line with those used in the large corporate credit CDO (for loans not secured by real estate) and EU RMBS (for loans secured by real estate) methodologies, (c) clarifies the methods of computation of the portfolio annualised default rate, and (d) incorporates the current DBRS Idealized Default Table (“IDT”).

The complete list of public ratings affected by today’s rating action can be found at the end of this Press Release. DBRS re-rates all credit ratings that have been assigned based on the methodology changes and discloses all resulting ratings and rating actions changes.

Notes:

All figures are in Euros unless otherwise noted.

The principal methodology applicable is Rating CLOs Backed by Loans to European Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises (SMEs). Other methodologies and criteria referenced in this transaction are listed at the end of this press release.
