FITCH AFFIRMS 25 TRANCHES OF BANCAJA SPANISH RMBS

Fitch Ratings-London/Madrid-10 May 2011: Fitch Ratings has affirmed 25 tranches of seven Bancaja RMBS transactions, a series of Spanish RMBS. The portfolios are backed by loans originated by Bancaja ('A-/Stable/'F2'). A full list of rating actions is at the end of this comment.

Bancaja 3-7 transactions have shown strong collateral performance despite geographical concentration in Valencia. The portfolios' average current loan to value ratios (CLTV) range between 31% (Bancaja 3) and 57% (for Bancaja 6) and the loans in the pools are well seasoned (6-12 years). As a result, the performance of the transactions has been well in line with Fitch's expectations. In March 2011, loans in arrears by more than 90 days ranged between 0.40% and 0.84% for Bancaja 3 and Bancaja 7, respectively. Meanwhile, the level of gross cumulative defaults over initial collateral balances was in the range of 0.08% to 0.43%. Due to the low volume of loans in the delinquency pipeline, Fitch expects limited movements in the current arrears and default levels and, as a result, the agency has affirmed the ratings of these deals.

The performance of Bancaja 8 and 9 transactions differs from the more seasoned Bancaja 3-7 deals with arrears levels reaching 1.77% and 1.82% of the current portfolios respectively as of March 2011. Cumulative gross defaults ratio, defined as loans in arrears by more than 18 months over initial collateral balance, reached 1.64% and 3.60% in March 2011. These higher arrears and default levels were anticipated given the characteristics of the collateral, with loans that were originated during the height of the housing boom and coincide with the originator's expansion strategy outside its core region of Valencia. Bancaja 8 and 9 have original LTV (OLTV) and CLTV in the range of 75% and 62% respectively.

Similar to most Spanish RMBS, all Bancaja transactions benefit from a provisioning mechanism whereby defaults are written off using gross excess spread. Over the last two payment periods, new defaulted loans within Bancaja 8 and 9 series have been lower in volume than the available excess spread, and consequently the transactions have been able to partially replenish their reserve funds. As of March 2011, Bancaja 8 and 9's reserve funds stood at 97% and 48% of their target amounts. Given the current trend in arrears, in Fitch's view, further replenishment of the reserves may occur on upcoming payment dates. As a result, Fitch has revised the Outlook on Bancaja 9's class B notes to Stable, while maintaining the Negative Outlook assigned to the junior tranches in these deals.

The originator, Bancaja, has gone through a merger process with other Spanish financial institutions to form Banco Financiero y de Ahorros Group (BFA Group; rated 'A-/Stable/'F2'). The Bancaja series have different degrees of exposure to Bancaja, which acts as swap provider in Bancaja 3 and Bancaja 4 and servicer for all of them. However, given the cash collateralisation of the swap agreements in place and the frequency of collateral collections transfers from the servicer to the SPV account banks every two business days, Fitch's considers that counterparty risk is well mitigated and is broadly in line with Fitch's criteria.
